THE TWISTER

"A REVOLUTION IN DIVOT REPAIR"

WHY IS THE TWISTER BETTER FOR GREENS?

Even when you use a standard repair tool correctly you are not really repairing the damage the ball has done. You are simply stretching the surrounding turf in over the damaged area and covering it up. On the positive side, this works well because the surface of a green is quite stretchy over short distances and if done correctly the green will recover quite quickly. But therein lies the problem for green keepers. Very few golfers either know how to do it, or spend the time to do it properly. More often than not a little short cut is taken, where the standard tool is simply inserted under the ball mark and the turf levered back up into place. This is where the damage is done. The root structure is torn and often a air pocket is created under the ball mark. It also leaves the compacted piece of soil at the surface and new leaves find it difficult to regenerate in this area. Once the damage is done it cannot be undone and will takes weeks to recover.

The twister works differently. Instead of just covering up the damage, you jab it in and out of the affected area and it restores the ground and relieves compaction at the same time. This not only results in better repairs that recover quickly, it is also a very quick and simple procedure that requires no skill on behalf of the golfer.

Any person can achieve near perfect results every time and what's more is, it is virtually impossible to do damage with the tool.

Of course it is sometimes necessary to stretch the soil back over the damaged area, especially when the greens are very soft or where the spin on the ball has managed to tear a piece of the turf completely out. However this is even easier with the twister in that it is gripping the soil in three dimensions as opposed to two with a standard tool. One insertion on the high side of the ball mark and a press forward towards the centre is all it takes. A few more jabs will finish the job. Even the largest of ball marks can be repaired in a few seconds.

Bottom line is, the Twister is quicker, simpler and does a better job than any other tool. You will have better greens and your green keeper will also be happy.
